

18 Lady Moss is a deceptively spacious two-bedroom detached bungalow located in Tweedbank, which lies halfway between the Borders towns of Melrose and Galashiels. Requiring a degree of modernisation, the property offers great potential, with scope to extend the existing accommodation, subject to the necessary permissions, and enjoys an excellent position within a sought-after cul-de-sac.

The property is only a short distance from the Borders Railway, which runs from Tweedbank to Edinburgh, and is a particular feature of this desirable location, whilst also benefitting from views back towards the Eildon Hills.

Internally, the house lies across one level and comprises two bedrooms, a bathroom, a sitting room with dining area, a kitchen, and a conservatory. With a useful front porch, there is good cupboard space and fitted wardrobes to both bedrooms plus a part floored attic offering additional storage.

Externally, the property has private driveway parking for two cars and an attached garage, with garden ground to the front and side.

Sloping paths provide easy access and the surprisingly sized garden lies pre-dominantly to the rear; a particular feature of this property with access from the conservatory as well as the porch. With generous lawn, mature trees and deep well stocked borders it is a peaceful and private setting, and a patio area provides an excellent space for informal entertaining.

Edinburgh is easily accessible via the A68, or the A7 with most Borders towns readily available from this central location, as well as via the aforementioned Borders Railway.
