

BADSWORTH HALL

MAIN STREET

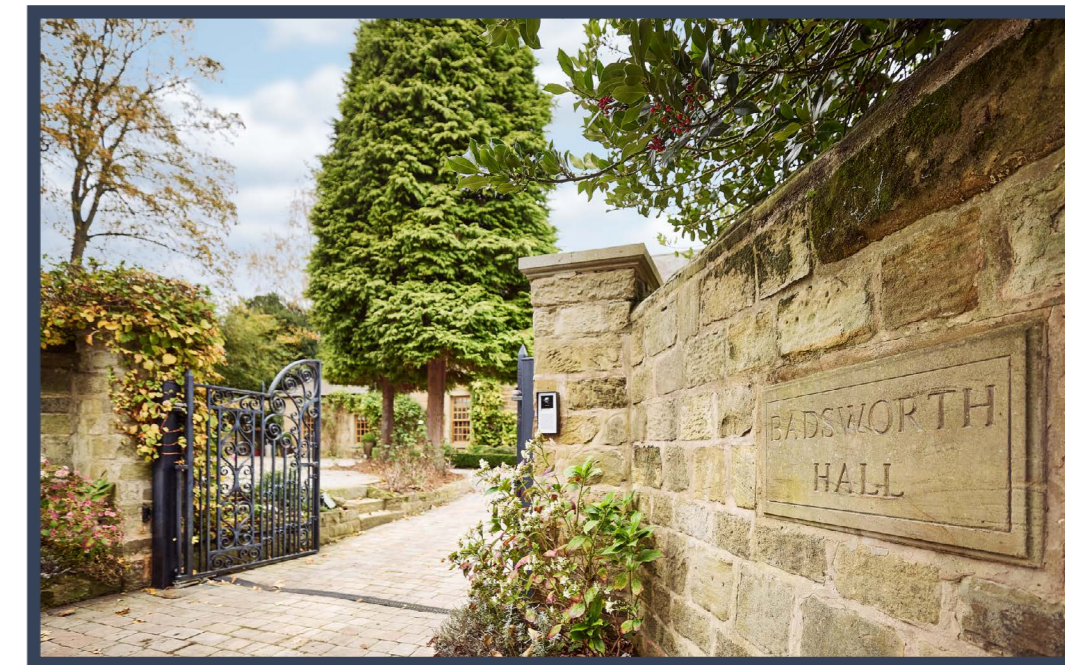

Nestled comfortably in a prime location, at the heart of the sought-after village of its namesake, is the magnificent Badsworth Hall. This picture-perfect stone manor house dates back to pre-1800s and has undergone a significant modern transformation inside, while retaining its exterior curb appeal and period hallmarks that make it truly unique. Now an immaculately presented four-bedroom family home complete with multiple reception rooms and entertainment spaces, plus a detached two-bedroom cottage in the grounds. Expect a high specification throughout with no expense spared on design or finishes, for the ultimate example of luxury living. You'll struggle to find a grander entrance than the sweeping paved drive leading up to the arched doorway of this beautiful home.

Passing by the treble garage that was added in the mid-2000s, you'll have already noticed some of the historical bearings that have remained throughout the centuries – including the carved gateposts and the original solid oak door that welcomes you into the charming entrance hall.

“I remember as a child when at school we used to run through Badsworth and passed the house and even back then I always said to myself I'd like to own it. It was just luck that it came up for sale when we were relocating back to Yorkshire from London.”

A stately Welcome

Weathered Yorkshire stone flooring, exposed brickwork and structural pillars tell a story of a house that has hosted many family memories, and the gallery landing allows you to appreciate the light and character of the arched window again from the inside.

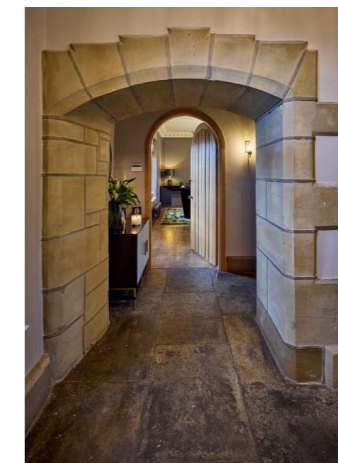

The decorative column radiators and stone floor continue through to the spacious W/C, which features a blend of traditional and modern touches – setting the tone for the rest of the interiors ahead.

Packed with personality

The lounge and snug are two enviable reception rooms that sit either side of the hallway – each with their own functions but similar in personality – featuring tall ceilings, rustic wooden floors, stunning fireplaces and dual-aspect large sash windows to maximise on light. The lounge is the more spacious of the two and takes the role of the formal entertainment space thanks to its double chandeliers and ornate coving, finished with beautiful panelled walls adding to the stately home feel. The snug is a cosy place to relax in front of the TV, especially in winter when the log burner is simmering.

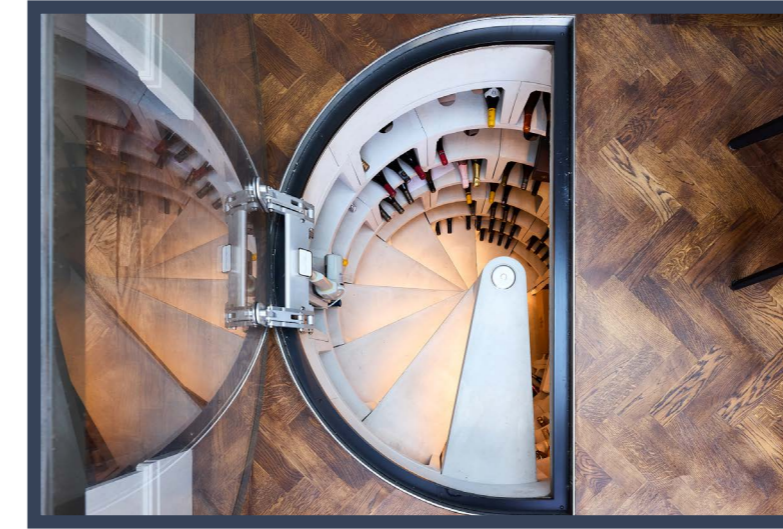

Continue through the snug and you'll reach the kitchen which occupies the east wing of the property. This superb space has undergone an extensive renovation to transform the farmhouse heart of the home into a jaw-dropping contemporary masterpiece, leaving no detail untouched. Chic matte charcoal handleless units are topped with deep marble worktops featuring a built-in sink with Quooker tap on the island and an impressive full width Teppanyaki grill surrounding the hob behind you. Be prepared for a cooking masterclass while you pull up a stool. Punctuated with dual-aspect windows, you'll find further full-length wall units housing hi-spec appliances from Miele and Gaggenau, contrasted with intricate parquet oak flooring to retain a glimpse of the home's period charm.

A Contemporary Masterpiece

Following the L-shaped footprint, the kitchen flows seamlessly into the dining room flooded with natural light from the pitched skylight overhead and full width bi-fold doors that open out onto a raised patio. Concealed beyond this is the utility area housing the laundry appliances, conveniently tucked away from the main hub.

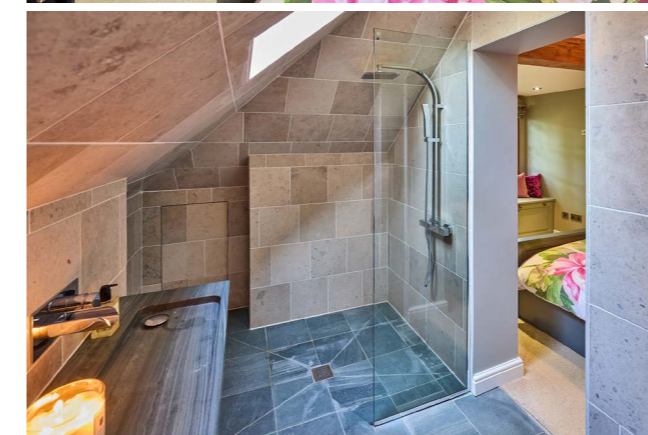

“The previous kitchen design was farmhouse style and we wanted something more contemporary – we love blending modern design with old property character.”

As you turn back to head out through the dining room - don't forget to look down to discover the glass covered wine cellar that has been crafted below floor level into the basement in the style of a spiral staircase. This completely, unique showstopper holds hundreds of bottles of wine at ambient temperature. Once the lid is lifted, you can officially let the dinner parties commence.

A Remarkable Renovation

Over in the west wing is a two-storey renovation which has transformed what was once the garage space. On the ground floor with oak parquet floor running through is an award-winning office as judged by interior designers which leads through to a state-of-the-art gym which doubles up as a garden room with French doors that open onto the lawn. Ascend to the first floor via the open staircase in the office where you'll find a stunning guest bedroom with en-suite. This delightful double room oozes cosy countryside charm with its exposed stone wall and beams overhead. Built-in window seat storage offers the perfect place to perch with a book and a minimalistic tiled walk-in shower room ensures you start the day right.

A spacious retreat

The bright and vast master bedroom along with the bathroom next door occupies almost half of the first-floor footprint, offering a spacious retreat boasting ample natural light and high ceilings. Deep oak windowsills and corner beam details punctuate the neutral decor, along with an internal door concealing a large walk-in wardrobe fitted with wooden shelving.

Classy Bathroom Curation

Beyond the next arched doorway along the hallway lies the family bathroom which acts as an en-suite for the master. Completely unique in design, the level of detail is unrivalled from the hand-picked Lake District slate floor to the quirky yet traditional 'Thomas Crapper' toilet.

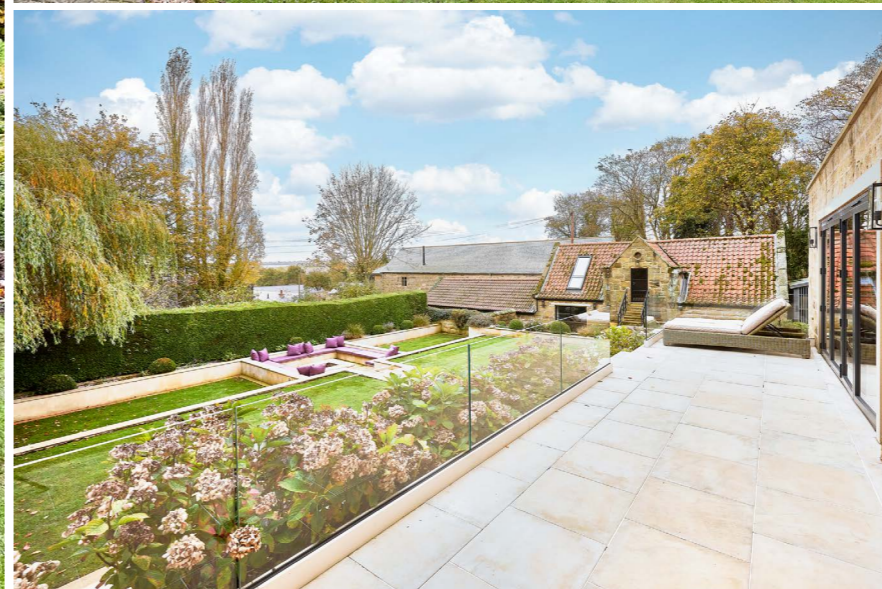

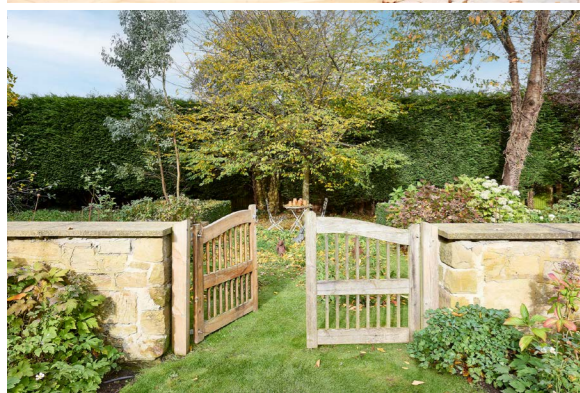

High gloss marble wall tiles surround the room, contrasting against the brushed steel wash basin and focal freestanding bathtub, which will be the highlight of your evening when you come to relax.

Ample doubles for the children

Bedrooms two and three sit side by side above the lounge – both generous doubles, each with their own modern en-suite shower rooms for ultimate comfort and privacy. Bursting with character and personality, you'll find decorative radiators as standard, two windows and ceiling beams yet modern practicalities have also been considered with storage and workspace options installed in both rooms.

Grand grounds

The property sits on approximately a third of an acre in total with a true manor house garden to admire at the rear. Designed to be split into two zones, the entertainment patio leading off the kitchen hosts a large seating area for al fresco dining with a sunken fire pit below for when dusk arrives.

An immaculate lawn maintained by a full irrigation system offers a peaceful and private haven for the children to play, surrounded by mature trees that have conservation protection. Despite the scope of outdoor space on offer, there's a quaint farmhouse feel at every turn thanks to details such as the original stone wall boundaries, wooden gates leading to the orchard and carefully curated abundant flower beds at the front and rear.

“There are various areas of the garden to enjoy – it’s like a private sanctuary.”

The most recent undertaking of work has been poured into the renovation of the cottage - the final area of the property which forms a stunning two-bedroom annexe that has been completely transformed down to the electrics and plumbing, as well as the aesthetics. Accessed from the patio via the Crittal-style doorway, this chic and modern industrial style continues throughout mixed with the characterful elements of the original stone build.

Complete with countryside cottage

The floorplan has been cleverly flipped to maximise on space, featuring two double bedrooms downstairs, alongside a small but perfectly formed hi-spec kitchen and lounge area which opens onto the personal patio. The ground floor bathroom is a highlight, comprising three-piece black suite and clean lines throughout including a large metro tiled rainfall shower.

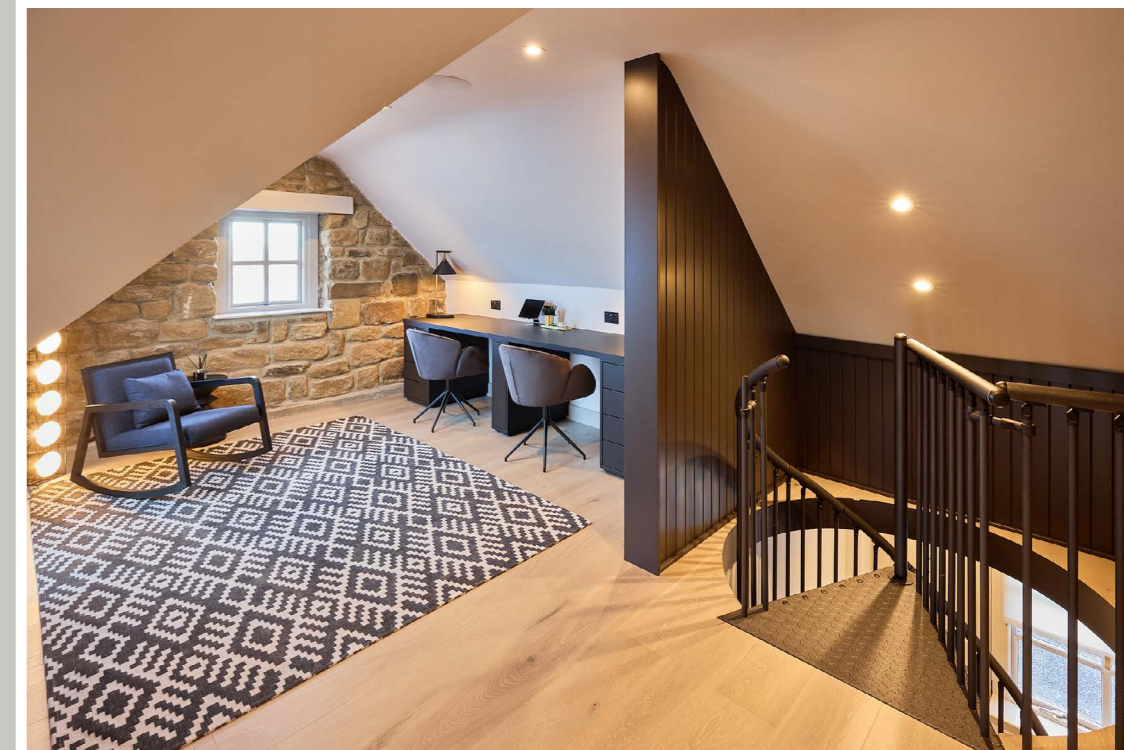

A statement black spiral staircase leads you to the first floor which is designed within the apex of the roof to maximise on space. Here you'll find a versatile luxury office which could be reconfigured as a further reception room. Next up is a state-of-the-art cinema room – the cherry on top of an impressive family home that has entertainment at its heart. With plump reclining sofas, mood lighting and fluffy carpet underfoot, all that's left to do is serve the popcorn and relax.

“This house has so much going for it – I love the position of it and the character. I wish we could just pick it up and move it.”
